

Brexit
Institute

A map of Europe and Ukraine is shown in the background. A large, stylized heart is overlaid on the map, with a blue top half and a yellow bottom half, representing the Ukrainian flag. The heart is positioned over the Ukrainian territory. The map shows major cities like Berlin, Warsaw, Prague, and Kyiv, as well as geographical features like the Dnieper river and the Black Sea.

The Ukraine War and the Future of the EU

A DCU Brexit Institute Event
31 March 2022
Live on Zoom

THE DCU BREXIT INSTITUTE IS PROUDLY
SPONSORED BY

PROGRAMME

Thursday 31st March

15:00 - 16:30 (UTC) // 16:00 - 17:30 (CET)

Welcome

Daire Keogh, President, DCU

---

Opening Statement

Thomas Byrne TD, Minister of State for European Affairs, Ireland

---

Roundtable Discussion

Chair:

Judy Dempsey, Carnegie Europe

Panellists:

Inge Govaere, Ghent & College of Europe

Anand Menon, King's College London &
UK in a Changing Europe

Kenneth McDonagh, DCU

Federico Fabbrini, DCU Brexit Institute

---

[Presentation of the DCU Masters in
European Law & Policy 2022-23](#)

DCU's Masters in European Law & Policy

Governments, businesses and societies need experts in European Law and EU policies to ensure their contributions to pressing issues and challenges at a transnational level. DCU's Masters in European Law and Policy is an innovative multidisciplinary programme delivered online, which equips graduates with the knowledge and skills to navigate and address those 21st century challenges, from Brexit to climate change and to the post-pandemic economic and social recovery.

From EU Institutional Law and Governance to Public Policy Analysis, this degree provides a strong balance of legal and policy analysis with opportunities to specialise in key policy areas of EU actions such as climate change, EU banking and finance, EU Trade, and foreign policy. It looks at the role of law in shaping and implementing policy.

For more information, please consult the Masters programme, as well as the brand new brochure for the 2022 intake.